

Happy 4th of July!

Cassowary enjoying a festive ice block!

Smithsonian National Zoological Park

Picture by Sara Hallager

Training as Enrichment at the Louisville Zoo

Craig and JP emu: solving behavior problems through training/enrichment!

Novel food enrichment for Ostrich

Ostrich at NC Zoo receive novel food items at least 3x a week. Here are a few examples of some of the food they like. Picture by Michael Violette.

A photograph of an ostrich and its chicks in a savanna landscape. The ostrich is in the foreground, facing left, with its long neck extended. Behind it, a group of smaller chicks is scattered across the dry, grassy ground. The background shows a vast, open plain with sparse trees and a hazy horizon under a clear sky.

The next quarter starts in October through December so be thinking fall and winter enrichment as well as holiday enrichment!

Please send any enrichment ideas and pictures to dana.urbanski@nczoo.org